DHS teachers receive honors

DYSART SCHOOLS — Two Dysart High School teachers have been honored by organizations for outstanding service to students and excellence in their field. DHS teachers Susan Poland and Cameron Johnson received accolades in the last few weeks.

Susan Poland has received the distinguished Key of Honor from the Kiwanis Club International. This award is the highest recognition which can be bestowed on an individual from the Kiwanis organization. Mike Down, Key Club International Director, presented Ms. Poland with the award. Susan has been a Key Club advisor for 29 years. During this time, she and her students have received many accolades for their accomplishments in student leadership both at a state and national level.

Cameron Johnson has received an appointment as a NEH Fellow for the summer of 2010. The appointment, through the National Endowment for the Humanities, is a high recognition of scholarly teaching and aptitude, coveted by many as few are selected nationwide. Cameron's fellowship will be held throughout the month of July, in Philadelphia.
