FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE — AUGUST 25, 2011

Surprise PD and Dysart team up to keep community clean

DYSART SCHOOLS — With a focus on keeping Surprise and the surrounding areas graffiti free, the Surprise Police Department has reached out to the Dysart Unified School District for support in implementing a new civic awareness campaign. Representatives from the Surprise Police Department recently met with all school and department administrators to discuss another great partnership opportunity that will benefit all taxpayers and keep the City attractive and clean. The new graffiti program concentrates on educating and motivating primary level students to the costs to them, their families and our cities when people destroy property with graffiti. It encourages them to be good citizens and report these crimes. Information on the rewards available for the prosecution of such crimes will also be shared. School administrators will work with the police staff to come into the schools to educate students through this new program.
